PETER JACKSON DESIGN

AWARD WINNING HOMES

THE PERFECT COASTAL ESCAPE

Living by the beach requires unique consideration. Layout and design, orientation and views become an imminent concern, whilst wind and seasonal living command attention. In fifteen years Peter Jackson has created award winning homes for a range of urban, coastal and country environments.

The key feature of this design is undoubtedly the cliff top site with private beach access and the meandering driveway that ensures seclusion and exclusivity. The brief for Peter Jackson was to make the most of the location by using as much natural light as possible and positioning all of the rooms so the bay views could be enjoyed at every turn.

When you first drive your car up the drive and catch sight of the beach escape, you can see how this has been achieved. Walking up the drive, your eye is drawn first to the feature glass entry flowing under the sweeping portico roof. The flowing form continues once you venture inside. Convex walls either side of the double storey entry bridge the master suite walkway. Double storey glass and convex walls link all of the rooms and contribute to the flow of the space.

The house offers grandstand views of the seascape and the swimming pool through spectacular curved butt glazed picture windows that feature in the main living room and master bedroom. In the master bedroom, the bed has been cleverly concealed upon entry but the design of the space means that you can still see the magnificent bay views thanks to the surrounding glass windows and roof. These flowing curved and organic forms respond directly to the surrounding site and bay environment, making the most of the amazing secluded location and views over the bay to the city skyline.
